DISC RECORD CABINETS

The Globe-Wernicke Co.
CINCINNATI

THIS announces, we believe, the most important forward step in recent phonograph history. It has to do with an improvement which is radical—which has long been desired and eagerly awaited.

Whereas, heretofore, the finding and replacing of one's talking machine disc records has been always a problem and frequently a nuisance, the Brown Disc Record Cabinet now makes it a positive pleasure.

The greatest enjoyment of a library of records can only come when there is a place for every record—and every record always in its place and instantly accessible. The Brown Disc Record Cabinet offers all this and more.

The drawer device has been perfected to so convenient a degree that when opened up, it virtually hands you the record you desire. And it can be absolutely relied upon to prevent scratching and warping. Its use insures perfect preservation of the records entrusted to its care.

Brown Disc Record Cabinets are for the owners of the smaller, portable machine and the possessors of the large, cabinet type, alike. The owner of a small phonograph places it atop his "Brown" and presto, his is a Cabinet machine—for what is the "cabinet" but storage space?

The owner of a large machine when his record library has outgrown the rather restricted space provided beneath the machine itself, purchases a Brown Disc Record Cabinet and thereafter increases his record collection as he desires with constant ease and convenience.

Brown Disc Record Cabinets come in two-drawer, four-drawer, six-drawer and twelve-drawer sizes, in the pleasing designs shown on the following pages. In beautiful quartered oak and finest mahogany. With flat tops, for the flat base machines—and with moulding tops for the machines with feet or curved bases.

Each drawer will hold twenty-five 10-inch or 12-inch records—each record in a separate compartment.

When not in use the records lie flat, which is the correct position. When the drawer is opened, however, the records automatically assume a vertical position, so that each is instantly and easily accessible.

The illustrations of the three open positions of the drawer explain the operation. It is very simple. It is noiseless. And the mechanism is simplicity itself—there is a complete absence of intricate parts which might get out of order.

A gentle pull on the drawer knob brings the drawer out, smoothly and easily, into the first open position—as shown on the preceding page. In this position the drawer index is automatically presented for quick and easy reference. Having located the number of the record you wish, you take your hand from the knob and the drawer immediately falls into the second and third positions shown on this page.

In the second position the records are vertical—held there under the pressure of a spring. In the third position this spring has been automatically released. The records separate themselves, as shown—each record is instantly accessible.

Any Brown Disc Record Cabinet can be used in connection with any phonograph, no matter what its make or model.

Every Brown Disc Record Cabinet is a beautiful piece of furniture as well as a thoroughly satisfying record file.

BROWN DISC RECORD CABINET—STYLE TWELVE

THE impressive Style Twelve cabinet with the doors open and one of the drawers in the first, or index reference position. This, again, is a cabinet most appropriate for use with any of the larger, or cabinet type machines.

Its stately beauty and elegance is an adornment to any apartment and it is, indeed, a fit companion piece for the most expensive machine.

THE talking machine's perfect reproduction of the world's best music has very naturally resulted in rapidly growing libraries of disc records in every home, and this has created a demand for a sectional disc record cabinet—one that will grow a section at a time as the record library grows.

In answer to this demand, after long and careful study and experiment, we developed and perfected the Globe-Wernicke Sectional Disc Record Cabinet as illustrated on this and the following pages.

Each section, or unit, will accommodate ninety records of any thickness. This great weight means that each section must be strong, sturdy and built-to-endure—so we make it double strength. There is an interior strong enough to hold ninety thick or even one hundred and eighty thin records. And this interior is placed within an outer section which is even more substantially built than the interior.

The compartments are numbered consecutively 1 to 90. An index in an extra compartment to the extreme left has ninety double ruled spaces numbered 1 to 90 to accommodate the names of ninety double-faced records. Each record is given a number and placed in the compartment having the same number. Two sets of ninety gummed numbers are furnished with each index. This permits a double-faced record to bear its number on both sides.

These sections are made in two styles, the Globe-Wernicke Art Mission Style, and the Standard Style, the high qualities of which in both construction and finish are well known to the public.

The Art Mission Sections are made in two sizes, one to accommodate the ten-inch records, and the other, both ten-inch and twelve-inch. The Standard Style Sections are made in one size which accommodates both ten-inch and twelve-inch records.

The sections are interchangeable with Globe-Wernicke Book sections, and a combination of two book sections and one record section with top and base makes a very convenient outfit to start with.

For convenience, ease, preservation—and constant adaptability to your record filing requirements—Globe-Wernicke Disc Record Sections.

GLOBE-WERNICKE SECTIONAL DISC RECORD CABINET

THE Art Mission Style in the Mahogany finish. It is composed of two No. 0328 and one No. 0329 Art Mission Disc Record Sections with a No. 351 Art Mission Top and mounted upon a No. 357 Art Mission Base. The cabinet is 59 inches in height by 34⅝ inches in width by 13¾ inches in depth.

Carried in stock in Mahogany and Golden or Fumed Quartered Oak. The No. 0328 will hold ninety 10-inch double-faced thick records, or one hundred eighty double-faced thin records. The No. 0329 will take both 10-inch and 12-inch records.

See Price List.

A USE OF ONE GLOBE-WERNICKE DISC RECORD SECTION

THIS shows you a single Globe-Wernicke Disc Record Section combined with two bookcase sections. The style shown is Art Mission, Mahogany finish. This combination measures 52½ inches in height by 34⅝ inches in width by 13¾ inches in depth. A single disc record section such as this will hold ninety double-faced thick records or one hundred and eighty double-faced thin records. The ninety compartments of every unit are numbered consecutively 1 to 90.

See Price List.

A USE OF TWO GLOBE-WERNICKE DISC RECORD SECTIONS

THIS is another evidence of the great adaptability of Globe-Wernicke Disc Record Sections. Two sections in the Art Mission Style may be very effectively combined in a complete cabinet with one Art Mission Bookcase Section. The combination consists of one No. 357 Base, one No. 0329 Unit for 10-inch and 12-inch records, one No. 0328 Unit for 10-inch records, one No. 308 Book Unit and one No. 341 Top.

See Price List.

GLOBE-WERNICKE SECTIONAL DISC RECORD CABINETS

THE Globe-Wernicke Disc Record Sections are also made in the popular Standard Style as shown above. Any Standard Style Disc Record Section will combine with any Standard Style Bookcase Section, thus making possible a great variety of combinations. There is but one size, No. 0129, which will take both the 10-inch and 12-inch records.

The Standard Style Sections are carried in stock in all woods and G-W finishes. A section will hold ninety double-faced thick records or one hundred and eighty double-faced thin records.
